

Eau Claire Curling Club

October 25, 2020

Dear 2020-2021 ECCC Members,

The 2020-2021 curling season opens tomorrow! I hope you are all excited to get out on the ice again!

The ice area looks fabulous and is the result of many hours of volunteer work under the direction of our dedicated Ice Manager, Jason Card. Thank you to all who participated in that effort! You will notice that we have three sheets of ice instead of four, with wide corridors between sheets to allow for social distancing.

Our excitement about this season must be tempered with the sobering reality of the circumstances we are in and what we must do to safeguard all our members from COVID-19 this season. The ECCC Return to Curling Plan, is our 'rule book' for this season. Please read it. Each of you has signed a Social Contract pledging your support and compliance to the policies outlined in the Return to Curling Plan. We cannot tolerate any form of non-compliance to these policies. Failure to comply will result in removal from the club and forfeit of membership.

The COVID-19 virus is very serious, and each of us has the responsibility, individually and collectively, to do all we can to prevent its transmission within our club. The Social Contract you signed is a promise to your curling community to do that. We are counting on our members to help each other remember to follow these key rules:

- Wear a mask, over nose and mouth, at all times
- Social distance at all times
- Sanitize anything you touch in the club

Our ability to keep the club open depends on our success as a community to comply with the Return to Curling Plan. Thank you for doing your part!

The Return to Curling Plan and the Social Contract are on our website, and will be posted in the club, for your reference.

Good Curling! Have fun and stay safe!
